And hereabouts they write, whom oft I've noted, With labouring pen, and overwhelming duliness, Targing a rhyme—wretched were their lines, With labouring person weekched were their lines, Tagging a rhyme—wretched were their lines, Bught genius never fired a single thought; But in their song some idle tale was told With folly stuff 'd—and other lines Of ill-shap'd fancies—and for their verse! A heggarly account of strained numbers, Hatsh rhymes, stolen thoughts, and plagiarised conceits,

Musty and old—remnants of rhyme,
Must thickly scattered to make up a show,
Ming these poets, to my self I said,
And it a man doth need a poison now, and a close for him in every line: Here is a dose for him in every line: O this same thought already has forerun My present song—been sung in former verse And as I remember, spoke at length—Of these My song shall now be closed.

> FOR THE SATURDAY EVENING POST. MELODY.
> When first I saw thee in thy pride.

When first I saw thee in thy pride, There's many did surround thee And praise bestow'd, on every side With Beauty's wreath had crown'd thee, And on thy smile there's many hung, Who could have swore they lov'd thee, But thou wert cold, and they who clung To hope, despaired to move thee.

Yes, thou wert cold to ail. But one, whose charms had mov'd ther And thou hast had thy For he hath never lov'd thee.

When thus surrounded by a train those who did adore thee. To lay my heart before thee. nt yet in secret many a sigh Remembrance would elicit, And I have kept a jealous eye, Wherever those didst visit.
Yes, I have watch'd thee still, Have seen others greet thee,

Have follow'd thee at will, But never dared to meet thee. And I have seen them one by one Retire at last, and thou nadst a To southe thee, or to bless thee.

And they who flatter'd, they who learn'd To swear, they knew no pleasure, When absent from thee, ne'er return'd claim the beauteous treasure.

But what is that to thee,
But one thou wouldst have taken, And he deserves to be Forgotten and forsaken.

When last I saw thee in thy fall,
There's none who did surround thee,
Thou wert deserted, are, by all Thou ever deserted, a.e. by all
Thou ever hasts around thee.
Yet in thy step, or in thine eye,
There's nane might read thy story;
Thy step was firm, thy front was high,
Thou seemed in all thy glory.
Pive seen thee since, and off

The same, yet caught thee sighing. Peace to thy shade, and soft The place, where thou art lying.

From Blackwood's Estinburg's Magazine. THE COT IN THE GLEN

Oh! 'tis not the star of the evening o'er-topping.
With fairy bright radiance the dim azure hall, The green torests far up the wide valley sloping, The gleam of the lake, or the sound of the rill, That tempt me at twinght to wander thus lonely, So far from the din and the bustle of men : magic, a magic, that charms for me only, Surrounds with its halo you cot in the glen! A magic, a magic, that charms for

ON PRAYER. Praver is the soul's sincere desire,

Utter'd or unexpressed; The motion of a hidden are, That trembles in the breast. Prayer is the burden of a sigh, The falling of a tear: The upward glancing of an eye, When none but God is near. Prayer is the simplest form of speech That infant lips can try: Prayer the sublimest strains that reach The majorty on high. Prayer is the Christian's vital breath, The Christian's native air: His watchword at the gates of death, He enters Heaven with prayer. Prayer is the contrite sinner's voice, Returning from his ways; While angels in their song rejoice, And cry, "Behold he prays." to prayer on earth, the mints are one la word, in deed, in mind When with the Father and the Son

Sweet fellowship they find. Nor prayer is made on earth alone, The Holy Spirit pleads: And Jesus on the eternal throne, For sinners intercedes. O! Thou, by whom we come to God,
The Life, the Truth, the Way!
The path of Prayer thyself hast trod—
Lord, teach us how to pray!

Lines written by a Lady in a low state of Health, From dreams of life and joy—and human ills, Soon shall death's iron hand, my spirit free; Dissolve the insidious charm which nature feels, And place me where all is reality.

FOR THE SATURDAY EVENING POST. The journey of human life is bounded by very narrow limits, and in travelling the little space between the cradle and the grave, we have to contend with an endless variety of toils, of cares and perplexities. Many schemes and projects for the attainment of felicity engage the attention and invite the pursuit of the multitude, and all seem to wander and go astray, each in his own delusions, and become lost in chace of fancied happiness, still wooed and never won. Moralists and others, who have attempted to reform the errors and abuses of mankind and show them in what their true happiness consists, have done comparatively but little to increase the stock of human felicity .- The boon is perhaps not to be secured by the possession of external acquirements, and hence, those who seek it in wisdom, wealth and fame never find it. The votaries of religion and virtue themselves, are sometimes apparently debarred from the enjoyment of happines, while those who inherit by a luckiness of constitution an innate, easy and contented soul. Through the medium of a lively and unjaundiced imagination, they see every thing that surrounds them in a good numored light, and the propensity to be pleased accompanies them at all times and under all circumstances; sorrow scarcely finds un avenue to their hearts, and they are rarely affected, unless by some uncommon stroke of adversity. A man of this peculiar cast and character sits down at ease in the sunshine of contentment, free from a thousand pangs which are suffered by the wealthy, the great, the wise and even the virtuous. It is this genial temper of soul that renders a man a more successful candidate for happiness than any other quality, or possession. Religion and virtue have a powerful influence to controul the turbulence of psssion, to smooth the "care worn brow," and to guide the wandering footsteps in the paths of peace and felicity. Where nature has shed its kindly influence to dispose a man to be pleased and content with his lot, and religion and virtue lend their co-operating power, they fill up the chrystal cup of pure joy as far as HELL BRIDGE. There is a narrow pass between the mountains in the neighbourhood of Bendearg, in the highlands of Scotland, which at a little distance has the appearance of an immense artificial bridge thrown over a tremendous chasm; but on nearer approach it is seen to be a wall of nature's own masonry, formed of vast and rugged bodies of solid rock, piled on each other as if in the giant sport of the architect. Its sides are in some places covered with trees of a considerable size; and the passenger who has a head steady enough to look down the precipice, may see the cyry of birds of prey beneath his feet. The path across is so narrow that it cannot admit of persons passing; and indeed none but natives would attempt the dangerous route, tho' it saves a circuit of three miles. Yet it sometimes happens that two travellers meet, owing to the curve formed by the pass preventing a view across from either side; and when this is the case one lies down, while the other crawls over his body. One day a highlander walking along the pass, when he had gained the highest part of the arch. observed another coming leisurely up, and being of the patrician order, called to him The person disregarded the command, and the highlanders met on the summit. They were Cairn and Bendearg, of two families in enmity to each other-

"and called out first; lie down, that I may pace over in peace." "When the Grant prostrates himself before the M'Pherson," answered the other, " it must be with sword driven through his body." " Turn back then," said Bendeary, "and repass as you came." "Go back yourself, if you like it," replied Grant; "I will not be the first of one court to snother, for the laudable pur my name to turn before the M'l'herson." They then threw their bonnets over the precipice, and advanced with a slow and cautious pace closer to each other. They were both unarmed. Stretching their limbs like men preparing for a desperate strug-gle, they planted their feet firmly on the ground, compressed their lips, knit their brows, and fixing fierce and watchful eyes on each other, stood prepared for the onset. They both grappled at the same moment; but being of equal strength were unable for some time to shift each other's period standing fixed on the rock, with suppressed breath, and muscless strained to the top of their bent," like statues carved out of the solid stone. At length M'Pherson suddenly removing his right foot so as to give him greater purchase stooped his body, and bent his enemy down with him by main strength, till they both leaned over the precipice, looking downward into the terrible byss. The contest was as yet doubtful, for Grant and placed his foot firmly on an elevation at the brink, and had equal command of his enemy; but at this moment M'Pherson sunk slowly on his knee, and while Grant suddenly sta ted back, stooping to take the supposed advantage, whirled him over his head into the gulf. M'Pherson himself fell backwards, his body partly hanging over the rock. A fragment gave way beneath him, and she sunk further; till catching with a desperate effort at the solid stone above, he regained his footing. There was a pause of deathlike stillness, and the bold heart of M'Pherson felt sickened and faint. At length, as if compelled unwillingly by some mysterious feeling, he looked down over the precipice. Grant had caught with a death gripe by the rugspirit, possess joy and genuine glee of ged point of a rock; his enemy was yet almost within his reach! His face was turned upwards, and there was in it hor or and despair; but he uttered no word or cry .-The next moment he losed his hold and his brains were dashed out before the eyes of his hereditary foe; the mangled body disappeared among the trees, and its last heavy and hollow sound took from the bottom. M'Pherson returned home an altered man. He purchased a commission in the army, and fell bravely in the wars of the peninsula. The Gaelic name of the place were this tragedy was acted signifies Hell Bridge.

DESCRIPTION OF ATHENIAN GIRLS.

Our hostess, Signora Vitali, introduced us to our next door neighbors, who consisted of her own sister, with three fair daughters, considered at this time the belles of Athens. They are known by the title of consuline, their father having held the post of British vice-consul. One of these young ladies was supposed to be that "Maid of Athens" who is celebrated in some beautiful verses annexed to Childe Harold; her countenance was extremely interesting, and her eye retained much of its wonted brilliancy; but the roses had already deserted her cheek, and we observed the remains only, of that loveliness which elicited such strains from an impassioned poet. so fading a flower is beauty in these climes that a very few years see it rise to sparkle like a meteor and to vanish. A Grecian damsel of sixteen is frequently angelical; at twenty she becomes plain; and in five years more, frightfully ugly. There is no transition, as with us, from the light beauty of the girl to the mature graces of the matron and the venerable dignity of advanced age; the face of a sylph becomes almost at once transformed into a gorgon's head. In discussing this subject with Signove Lusieri, he assured me, that the faul by not so much in the climate as in the destructive habits of the Grecian females, more especially in the abuse of the bath, which they attend almost daily, remaining in its hot sudatories several hours at a time where they discuss more scandal than ciculates at an English tea table in as many weeks: hence their colour vanishes and their fibres are relaxed; hence they become languid and unable to take wholesome exercise. Soon after the age of twenty willikles begin to appear, and they suffer all the inconveniencies of premative debility Though the Grecian females are not ac complished, yet they possess a considerable degree of elegance in their address and manners: their salutation is particularly graceful, consisting of a gentle inclination of the body whilst the right hand is brought in contact with the waist; they are generally found by visitors reclining indolently on the sofas of the apartment, their silken robes bound round with a silver

APHORISMS.

Christian graces are like perfumes; the nore they are prest, the sweeter they smell; ike stars, that shine brightest in the dark; like trees, the more they are shaken, the deeper root they take, and the more fruit they bear.

The casting down of our spirit in true humility, is but like throwing a bell on the ground, which makes it rebound the higher towards heaven.

As it sometimes rains when the sun shines, so there may be joy in a saint's heart when there are tears in his eyes.

Our hearts are like instruments of music well tuned; they will make no melody in the ear of God, unless they be gently touched by the finger of the Spirit.

Outward comforts are like the rotte twigs of a tree; they may be touched, but f they are trusted to, or rested upon, they will certainly deceive and fail us. Procrastination is the very top-stone of destruction to all good designs; let it have no controul over you, avoid it as you would

As the sun ripens and sweetens fruits by shining upon them, without which they would be sour and unsavoury; so it is the sunshine of God's love and favour that sweetens all earthly blessings, without which they would be but crosses and curses to them that possess them.

Shingfu, when under misfortunes, would in the beginning, weep like a child; but he soon re-covered his former tranquility. After indulging grief for a few days, he would become as usual, the most mery old man in all the province of Shansi. About the time that his wife died, his possessions were all consumed by five, and his only son solution to expirity; Shingfu grieved for one day, and the next went to dance at a Mandarine's door for his dinner. The company were surprised to see the old man so merry, when suffering under such ins dinner. The company were surprised to see the old man so merry, when suffering under such peat losses, and the Mandarine himself coming out asked him how he, who had grieved so much, and given wayto the calamity the day before, cond now he so cheerful? "You ask me one question," cries the old man, "let me answer by asking another: Which is the most dorable, a hard thing, or a soft thing; that which resists, or that which makes no resistance?" An hard thing to be sure, repaid the Mandarine. > One of the tutors of a certain university n Vermont, took a walk early in the mornng before prayers for exercise. Being buried in contemplation, for which the hour of the day was very favourable, he extended his walk to a greater distance from college than usual. At length he entered a plot of ground from which pine timber had been cut and burnt, and the fire had left the stumps exceeding black-when, on a sudden, he emerged from his reverie, and seeing a cluster of those black objects at a small distance from him, he took them to be bears. The fears which this apprehension excited, occasioned his return with all p ssible speed. He arrived at the chapel door at the mornent the students were entering for prayers. By his great exertions he could do little more than pant for breath, and appeared amazingly frightened. One of the students observing his fright, and consternation, desired to know the cause. -The totor scarcely able to-speak, in broken accepts said " A bear and nine cubs! A bear and nine cuba! The old bear pursued me with all the fury which is common to those devouring animals, and I have but just escaped with my life!"

> Several of the students, at his request immediately accompanied him to the place where his life had been exposed to these beasts of prey; when to his great mortification, he found that the bears consisted of a large pine stump, encircled with a number of smaller ones. Soon after, at a quar-terly examination, the same tutor pet this question to one of the studen's: "How would you exp estinger!" The question was answered. It is then says to the next, " And how would you express fear?" The student assuming the phiz of consternation, with uplifted hands and a faultering voice replied, " A bear and nine cube! bear and nine cubs !"

A gentleman from Scotland arrived at art

inn in St. Albans, on his way to the metropolis. He had with him a favourite dog, which, being apprehensive of losing in London, he left to the care of the landlord. During several days the dog was kept on a chain, to reconcile him to an intimacy with his new master; he was then left to range the public yard. There was one mong his companions who chose to play the tyrant, and frequently assaulted and beat poor Tray unmercifully. Tray submitted for some time, but his patience being exhausted, he quickly took his departure. After an absence of several days, he returned in company with a large Newoundland dog, made directly up to rannical assailant, and, so assisted, very nearly beat him to death. The stranger then retired and was seen no more, and Tray remained unmolested until the return of his master. The landlord naturally mentioned a circumstance which was the subject of general conversation, and the gentleman felt convinced that the dog had absolutely journied into Scotland to relate his ill treatment, and to betpeak the good offices of the friend who had been the companion of his journey back, and his assistance in punishing the aggressor. It provd to have been so; for, on arriving at his ome in the highlands, and inquiring into particulars, he found, as he expected, that much surprise and some uncasiness had een excited by the return of Trav alone; by the two dogs, after meeting going off together, and by the Newfoundtander, after an absence of several days, coming back again, foot sore, and nearly starved.

REASON AND REVELATION " Reason is natural Revelation, whereby the Eternal Father of Light, and Fountain of Knowledge, communicates to mankind that portion of truth which he has laid within the reach of their natural faculties : Revelation is natural Reason, enlarged by a new set of discoveries communicated by Ged immediately, which Reason vouches the truth of, by the testimony and proofs it gives, that they come from God. So that e that takes away Reason to make way for Revelation puts out the light of truth, and does much the same, as if he would persuade a man to put out his eyes, the better to receive the remote light of an invisible star by a telescope." Thus did an eminent Christian Philosopher esteem this distinguished gift; and thus should all Christians regard it. Reason is always absurd, when its possessors forget that it came from the same Being who has given them a Revelation; and that consequently these two instructors and guides cannot in any fair way he made to oppose each other. Strange. that this faculty which allies us to the Father of our spirits, should be so ungratefully received, and so inconsistently treated, as to say that " it is not the doctrine of Religion" Thus Reason is oft idolized when it serves our purposes, and trampled upon the moment it operates against prejudices Strange those men who are set up as fingerposts to point the way to Heaven, should from the sacred Rostra's attempt to Reason us out of our Reason, and think to convince us that Religion and Revelation are very unreusonable things. But, singular as this conduct is, its cause is obvious. Some men have thought that to undervalue and decry their natural powers was to be humble; but no mistake can be greater or more dangerous-It is not humility to lay our imperfections and follies at the door of another. It is not true humility to make poor old Adam or any body else take the blame of our faults. True humility consists in sorrosing for something which we have done ourselves, and endeavouring to do better; not in finding fault with what we do not understand, or with that nature which God has given us, and tracing all our sins to some other cause, than our own bad pas sions, the evil propen ities which we ourselves have created. Let us not be led astray from the simplicity of the truth as it is in Jesus by such absurdities as these. It is true we are surrounded by temptations, but none of them are greater than we can , because to him that asketh of God Reason is a blessing, and the gift of God, collections amounted to $732 47. will not, we presume, be denied. If Reason is not a blessing conferred by him from whom cometh every good and perfect gift, it be ones to those who deny it, to tell us of what use Revelation would be without Reason: nay, they must tell us how it could be known that that which pretended to be a Revelation was really so, and how it could be proved that such a being as God existed. As rational and accountable beings, we shall do well always to bear in mind, that Reason is, and must be our guide, and as soon as we crase to consult and obey its dictates, we ceuse to be moral, religious, accountathe beings. POR THE SAFCADAY EVENING POST Southwark Berean Society.

This Society has held public discus of February, attended by a nume the beginning of reprising, attended by a numerous and respectable audience; and the debates generally supported by men of abilities on both aides, who prove, or attempt to prove, the truth of their doctrines from the Scriptures. The first five evenings were devoted to the inquiry, "Does scripture or reason, teach an endless punishment to any individual;" since which time the popular doctrine of the Trinity, has been under discus-These two doctrines, are considered by sion. These two doctrines, are considered by many, the key to Christianty, while those that deny them, are supposed, not worthy of the name of Christians. But we often hear from different parts of our country, (and from parts of Europe) that, they are increasing rapidly in numbers; and if their opinions are correct, it becomes the imperative daty of all the different Ministers of the termed. Ministers of the gospel, to attend, now an ap-portunity presents fixelf, and show by incon-trovertible arguments, the unscriptural opirtible arguments, the unscriptural they hold; and thus at least weaken if entirely destroy the growing heresics. It will not be amiss to inform the public, the principles on which the Society is founded; acctarian distinctions are not to be found in it; though it is a good moral character, who believes in the essalability of Jesus, becomes a member by ming the constitution. The Society claims the Messaharap of structures are the privilege of making lawa, electing officers, and choosing questions, though any of the audience has the privilege of giving his opinions on the subject, provided he confine his remarks to Thirty minutes; but should his ideas be written, to Fitteen minutes. The meetings are held on Friday evening, at the Southwark Hall. There is a similar Society that meets on Tuesday evenings, at the Commissioners' Hall, Northern Liberties, and I understand it is contemplated to establish a third in a central part of the City.

A new opening for Yankee Enterprize .-A Missouri paper of the 18th of February informs us that a wagon was taken, in the early part of last spring, from the vicinity of Franklin in that state, which cost there but $150, to Santa Fe, where it was sold for seven hundred dollars!

The Telegraph of Port au Prince, the official paper, indignantly denies the allegations of the American Captain, arrived from that place at Wilmington, (North Carolina,) concerning the misconduct of the negroes at the late dreadful conflagration in the Haytien capital. Gratitude is expressed to Mr. Correy, of Philadelphia, for the contradiction which he gave to those allegations. An official article repels also the charge preferred against the people of Hayti, of having fomented or assisted insurrec tions in the neighbouring islands or else

His clothes were all destroyed his hand burnt to a crisp, and his head and face disfigured most deplorably. His wife and only child happened to be in Boston at the time.

Killing Negroes .- The Charleston City Gazette of the 26th ult. says-two negroes, a man and a woman, belonging to Skerving Smith, Esq. were shot at Jacksonborough on Saturday evening last, by Mr. Addison, captain of the schr. Alligator. "The fellow died; the wench, it is supposed, will recover of the wound." The editor modestly abstains at present from any com ment on this bloody transaction.

The Wilmington Gazette says, that apprehensions are entertained, that General 'ndwallader's wound will produce lock jaw, as his arm is much swelled and the ball not extracted.

We are sorry to see, in the account of damages done to vessels at Ocracock Bar by the late gale of wind, that the schooner Wesley, Capt. E. Solomon Thompson, of Clarkesburgh Maryland, was lately murdered on the pubhe road. It appears he was murdered by a black man, who had been hired to commit the act by a woman with whom Thompson had lived for several years. The murderers have been arrested.

It appears, that the British government had given erders to land troops in Cuba, for the extirpation of the pirates, in spite of any resistance from the government of the Island; which, after some opposition was finally acquiesced in by Spain. This it seems gave rise to the late rumours of England being about to seize the Island.

Another American murdered !- The brig Alert of Portsmouth, from New-Orleans, with a deck load of hogs, arrived at Havana on the 20th ult. Off the Moro, she was boarded in the night by two piratical boats with nine men each, and Cuptain Charles Blunt was killed and thrown overboard. The Cook was stabbed and thrown in among the hogs, and nearly eaten up before being discovered. Several of the crew were badly wounded, and the brig robbed.

The Detroit Manuscript.—The Detroit Gazette says the singular and the secondly discovered by Col. "The particulars of this horrid transaction, you will no doubt see in the newspapers as soon as you receive this. It was really a most wanton murder. As his vessel was approaching the harbor, a gun was fired to bring her to, but it blowing very fresh, and the channel being so narrow that he thought the attempt to do it, would be attended with hazard, as he was in the midst of breakers, and the sea running mast head high, he continued on his course, when other shots were fired at him, one of hip, cut off his leg, one arm, and his body nearly in two, while he was so near the castle as to be in the act of hailing it. He lived 5 or 6 minutes and although so dreadfully wounded, preserve his coolness and continued to give his orders a short time; his death caused a great sensation sorrow throughout the squadron, as he was beloved as an officer and man by every body. From Spain .- Accounts from Madrid brought by the Caravan, arrived at this port from Cadiz, are of the 25th Pebruary, two days later than the advices received by the last arrival from Liverpool. The King and Queen of Spain were both sick.— The Cortes appear to be very unanimous, if we may judge from the re-appointment of President Vice President, and Secretary. The Secretaries of State had given in their resignations, but it was not known whether they would be accepted. The kingdom was every where tranquit; and the re-mains of the factionists are stated to be sugning for pardon, and to be admitted into the Constitutional army. This state of things is attributed to the violent notes of the Holy Alliance, and to the threat of lent notes of the Holy Albiance, and to the threat of invasion on the part of France; circumstances, it is said, which have roused the Spanish people, and led them to forget their own domestic quarrels, that they may direct their entire physical strength against the common enemy. Ballasteros had gone to join the armies, the soldiers composing which are represented as burning with sacred rage against foreign domination.

Since our last, (says the Philadelphia corder of this morning,) intelligence been received from England four days er than previous advices, viz. Liverpool tes to the 9th ult. and London to the 8th t. A late arrival at New-York, from avre, has brought Paris dates to the 11th t. inclusive.

No formal declaration of hostilities on e part of France had as yet been issued, does it seem to us at all probable that here will be any further development of er views and designs, until her armies hall occupy Spanish ground; and, indeed, f her nefarious invasion should be so far accessful,) until her flag waves in triumph ver the Spanish capital.

It would seem that the crisis was fast pproaching. The Duc d'Angouleme was spected to leave Paris on the 15th March, Perpignan, near the north-eastern froner of Spain, and proceed thence to Baonne. A Paris paper of the 4th says, "the luke of Reggio has this day taken leave of the King, and sets off to-morrow to take ommand of the first corps of the Army of he Pyrennees at Bayonne."

In the French Chamber of Deputies. roccedings of a very violent nature-unrecedented even in the previous history f that sensitive and excitable body-had ust taken place. M. Manuel, in conseuence of some reflections cast upon the uling party, had been expelled by a vote the chamber, which was even enforced w personal violence. This had produced indignant feeling in the populace; and or some time tumultuous groups were ollected in the Boulevards, which required he interference of the gen d'armerie.-The minority had protested strongly against his high handed measure-and the excitement it had produced, together with the apportant circumstance of the refusal of e figuet to execute the order of the chamber to drag Manuel out of it, had aused, it was supposed, some rise in the French funds, as suggesting an unequivoal caution to the ultrue in relation to the robable consequences that would follow e departure of the royal troops from Paris, and therefore giving rise in the minds of some to the hope of more moderate and pacific counsels. The hope of cace had been rather confirmed by some ecent events at Madrid, which were ought inauspicious to the maintenance of the noble stand taken by the Cortes in defence of their liberties—such as some jealous squabblings between the different sorts of troops, and the resignation of those Ministers who had pledged themselves to pport the cause of their country against overweening pretensions of the Holy

These hopes will doubtless prove to have en delusive-every thing indicated war. ac most extensive preparations were beg made at Bayonne for the immediate mmencement of hostilities; and corresiding movements were observable on e other side of the fontier.

The inhabitants of Saragossa, so illusious for their heroic defence against the mer invasion of the French under Napothe had sworn to bury themselves under the ruins of their city, rather than submit to foreign control and dictation.

Portugal, it would seem, had determined a make common cause with Spain in the event of the bostile invasion of the terriory of the latter-this is an important cirsumstance, and augurs well to the hopes of lose who wish a successful issue to the heroic policy of that country.

The plan of the French invasion is thus detailed .- " An advance will be made to the capital in three directions, leaving St. Sebastian and Pampeluna closely blockaded; the Constitutional government will be overthrown; a Regency will be formed, in case the Liberals shall have carried off the King; the Constitution (which is said to be already drawn up) will be proclaimed, and caused to be accepted in the country occupied y the army; and in this situation the result of the manœuvres and machinations will be waited for, which have been employed in the other provinces to effect the counter revolution.

In England, the popular sympathy in faear of the Spanish cause was on the in-case; and had recently been loudly manisted on the occasion of a dinner given to the ambassadors of Spain and Portugal, at which 460 noblemen and gentlemen were resent-and numbers were excluded for ant of room, who had offered as much as 50 for admission. As the guests retired. they were saluted by an immense assemblage of people with continued cheers and cries of "Spain forever"-- " The Spanish cause"-" Down with the Holy Allianee" " Manuel forever"-" No Bourbons."

PHILADELPHIA.

Saturday, April 19, 1823.

It will be gratifying to our citizens to learn that the subscriptions towards the completion of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, are rapidly progressing, and hopes are entertained that the whole amount will soon be taken up. Upwards of 80,000 dollars has been subscribed in this city, within a few days past.

A person, wearing a plain garb, has been lately travelling in the state of New-Jersey, for the purpose of obtaining subscribers to a valuable work now publishing in this city. Were we to judge from his conversation we should conclude his main object was to vilify the characters of several ministers of the gospel belonging to the Society of Friends, more particularly that of the venerable ELIAS HICKS, whom he has misrepresented in a shameful man ner. It is presumed, the individual alluded to is not a member of the society, or he would be careful not to transgress the rule of discipline, against " tale-bearing and detraction, and spreading of evil reports."-We hope he will be more guarded for the future, otherwise he may hear something further on the subject.

On Tuesday morning last, in the neigh-bourhood of Market and Second street, considerable slarm was occasioned by the ravings of an infuriated Ox-his owners were driving him along the street, when he suddenly attacked a woman, whom he threw on the meat hooks in the market, and continued butting her, until he was driven off, when the woman was taken from her perilous situation with her hand much lacerated, the thumb being nearly torn off, she was otherwise considerably injured; another he threw over his back, and also overturned a man, but neither of them were much injured. By the adroitness of a coloured man a noose was slipped over his horns by which he was secured to a pump, and there killed.

THE NEWS. The Cadmus, arrived at New-York from France, brings Paris dates to the 14th of March, which contain London dates to the 11th and Madrid to the 5th of that month.
The London Sun of the 11th of March observes:-" The despatches yesterday received by government, added to the favourable advices from the Peninsula, had a mos favourable effect on the funds, and it is hop-ed a greater advance will take place. Mr. Jackson is about to return to Madrid. It is believed that a new negotiation is about to be entered into with Spain, which may yet prevent the commencement of hostili This opinion is strengthened by the interior situation of France, and the high price of the public funds. The critical situation of France should command the attention of her government, and if possible ause her to make a retrograde step sooner han employ those forces in a foreign invasion of which she has occasion to maintain her own tranquility. We wait with impa-tience for the king of Spain's speech at the opening of the ordinary Cortes." But the speech of the king has arrived, and though the Spanish government still acts on the defensive, no indication of a continuance of peace is to be perceived in that luminous and noble state paper. On the contrary, it anticipates nothing but hostilities; and a decree of the king proclaims that war has been resolved on, and that Spain was adopting the most efficient means to repel every aggression. A battle has no doubt been fought by this time; and our deliberate conviction is, that Spain will successfully defend her dominions and her liberties against French invasion and French domination.

THE CUBA PIRATES.

Captain Hamilton, arrived at Baltimore in the Spanish schooner Gallega in eleven days from Havana, states that a few days previous to his sailing a British brig of war fell in with a piratical two top-sail schooner off Cape Antonio, of six guns and one hundred and twenty men. Upon coming alongside, the crew of the schooner board ed the brig, armed with knives and other weapons, and took possession of her, after killing eleven men and driving-the whole of the British crew below. A British frigate soon after came up, gave chase to the brig, and recaptured her, the pirates having in the mean time returned to their own vessel, and finally made their escape. An action had also taken place near Cape Antonio, between the boats of a British sloop of war and a piratical schooner of six guns and sixty men, supposed to be the schooner Gota. After a few minutes the pirate blew up, and when the smoke dispersed, about twenty-five men were seen swimming in the water, to whom the boats gave no quarter. The schr. Pilot, Banks, from Norfolk, was captured by a pirate on the night of the 26th of March. 30 miles to the windward of Havana. Or boarding, the piratical captain gave or ders that all should be put to death and thrown overboard; but fortunately, a Spanish passenger on board begged for quarters in his native tongue, and the orders were countermanded. The crew and passengers were detained four days, and afterward landed. Captain Banks, in coming through Matanzas, recognized a great part of his cargo, which was there offering for sale, but was strongly savised by his friends to be silent, as his life might be the forfeit.

Amongst the general complaints of hard times it is pleasant to notice, now and then, instances of extraordinary success in mercantile speculation, to balance the rueful story. A few days ago a brig belonging to this port, returned after a voyage of ten months, from the South Sea. She had shipped a cargo of flour at six dollars per barrel, and on her arrival at Valparaiso, sold it for $36; and the purchaser immediately re-sold it at 60 dollars the barrel. Flour at that time was retailing at Lima at the rate of $75 per barrel, but shortly after fell to less than half that price.

Dr. Pencival .- An agent is now in N. York for the purpose of procuring subscribers for the Connecticut Herald, now edited by Dr. Percival, the poet. The paper is large, and handsomely printed; and the price only two dollars a year.

The brig Gen. Scott, at Sag Harbor, left St. Salvador Feb. 21st. On the 16th, the Brazilians made an attack upon that place, but was repulsed. The less was said to be from 2 to 300 killed on both sides. It was known at St. Salvador, that the Brazilian fleet with 800 troops on board, had sailed from Rio Janeiro and were to land some miles to the windward of that port. No business was doing, and all was in confusion.

On Wednesday last, a tragical event was witnessed in New-York. A Mr. Charles Steele, grocer, living at the corner of Broome and Cannon streets, deliberately took his gun, loaded with slugs, and fired it at his wife who was standing in the street, which took off one of her arms above the elbow. He then took a razor and cut his own throat so effectually that he survived but a few moments. We are not particu-larly informed of the cause of this act of frenzy, but understand that Mrs. S. had complained to the police of ill treatment from him. The deceased was about 50 years old, in comfortable circumstances as to property, and sustained a fair character in his neighborhood.

Letters from Pernambuco state, that in the latter part of February, the people of that place refused any longer to submit to the Emperor, and demanded a change of government, similar to that of the U. States. at the head of which they wished to place one white man, one mulatto, and one negro, so as to give each class of the population equal rights. On the 28th of Feb. a skirmish took place between them and the troops of the government, in which several on both sides were slain, and the former were defeated. The leader of the insurrection was made prisoner, and was sent to Rio Janeiro on the 7th of March for trial. The napprehen sion that the government of that portion of Brazil will eventually be in the hands of the mulattoes.

The sloop Maid of the Mill, Meter, from Lan-singburgh, for New-York, ran foul of the steam-boat Fire-Fly, near Poughkeepsie, and sunk in about fifteen feet water.

PROVIDENTIAL OCCURRENCE .- A ME Brown, accidently shot himself a short time since, in the town of Montgomery. He went into a canoe, near the bridge which crosses the Wallkill on the Minisink and Montgomery turnpike, and as he was shoving her off with the breech of his gun it went off and shot him through the leg .-The leg was amputated, but he died in a few days after.

Another.—A Mr Knap, living on the 'Big Island,' in the town of Warwick, a few days since, in jumping down from a hay mow, ran the handle of a pitchfork nine or ten inches into his body.—The extent of the injury sustained could not be immediately ascertained, but he remained in great distress when we heard from him.—Goshen Pat.

This interesting discussion commenced in the early part of 1821, with an Essay over the signature of "Paul," (in the Christian Repository, published at Wilmington, Del.) charging the society of Friends with holding doctrines and practices inimical to the principles of the Gospel, as contained in the scriptures of the Old and New Testament. These charges were ably met, by another writer over the signature of "Amicus," Seldom have the productions of anonymous writers excited a more lively interest than those of "Paul" and "Amicus," especially among Presbyterians and Friends.

FOR THE SATURDAY EVENING POST.

REASON AND REVELATION " Reason is natural Revelation, whereby the Eternal Father of Light, and Fountain of Knowledge, communicates to mankind that portion of truth which he has laid within the reach of their natural faculties : Revelation is natural Reason, enlarged by a new set of discoveries communicated by Ged immediately, which Reason vouches the truth of, by the testimony and proofs it gives, that they come from God. So that ie that takes away Reason to make way for Revelation puts out the light of truth, and does much the same, as if he would persuade a man to put out his eyes, the better to receive the remote light of an invisible star by a telescope." Thus did an eminent Christian Philosopher esteem this distinguished gift; and thus should all Christians regard it. Reason is always absurd, when its possessors forget that it came from the same Being who has given them a Revelation; and that consequently these two instructors and guides cannot in any fair way he made to oppose each other. Strange, that this faculty which allies us to the Fa ther of our spirits, should be so ungratefully received, and so inconsistently treated as to say that "it is not the doctrine of Religion" Thus Reason is oft idolized when it serves our purposes, and trampled upon the moment it operates against prejudices Strange those men who are set up as fingerposts to point the way to Heaven, should from the sacred Rostr in attempt to Reason us out of our Reason, and think to convince us that Religion and Revelation are very unreasonable things. But, singular as this conduct is, its cause is obvious. Some men have thought that to undervalue and decry their natural powers was to be humble; but no mistake can be greater or more danger ous-It is not humility to lay our imperfections and follies at the door of another It is not true humility to make poor old Adam or any body else take the blame of our faults. True humility consists in sorrosing for something which we have done ourselves, and endeavouring to do better; not in finding fault with what we do not understand, or with that nature which God has given us, and tracing all our sins to some other cause, than our own bad passions, the evil propen ities which we our selves have created. Let us not be led astray from the simplicity of the truth as it is in Jesus by such absurdities as these. It is true we are surrounded by temptations, but none of them are greater than we can because to him that asketh of God it will be given without upbraiding. That Reason is a blessing, and the gift of God, collections amounted to $732 47. will not, we presume, be denied. If Reason is not a blessing conferred by him from whom cometh every good and perfect gift, it be ones to those who deny it, to tell us of what use Revelation would be without Reason; nay, they must tell us how it could be known that that which pretended to be a Revelition was really so, and how it could be proved that such a being as God existed. As rational and accountable buings, we shall de well always to bear in mind, that Reason is, and must be our guide, and as soon as we couse to consult and obey its dictates, we ceree to be moral, religious, accountatle beings. # Southwark Berean Society.

This Society has held public discuss This Society has held public discussions, since the beginning of February, attended by a numerous and respectable audience; and the dehates generally supported by men of abilities on both sides, who prove, or attempt to prove, the truth of their doctrines from the Scriptures. The first five evenings were devoted to the inquiry, "Does serioture or reason, teach an endless numbers. oripture or reason, teach an endless punishment to any individual;" since which time the popular doctrine of the Trinity, has been under discussion. These two doctrines, are considered by sion. These two doctrines, are considered by many, the key to Christianty, while those that deny them, are supposed, not worthy of the name of Christians. But we often hear from different parts of our country, (and from parts of Europe) that, they are increasing rapidly in numbers; and if their opinions are correct, it becomes the imperative daty of all the different Ministers of the reason.

a good moral character, who believes in the saliship of Jesus, becomes a member by ing the constitution. The Society claims the signing the constitution. The Society claims the privilege of making laws, electing officers, and choosing questions, though any of the audience has the privilege of giving his opinions on the subject, provided he confine his remarks to Thirty minutes; but should his ideas be written, to Fifteen minutes. The meetings are held on Friday evening, at the Southwark Hall. There is a similar Society that meets on Tuesday evenings, at the Commissioners' Hall, Northern Liberties, and I understand it is contemplated to establish a third in a central part of the City.

A new opening for Yankee Enterprize .-Missouri paper of the 18th of February. informs us that a wagon was taken, in the early part of last spring, from the vicinity of Franklin in that state, which cost there but $150, to Santa Fe, where it was sold for seven hundred dollars!

The Telegraph of Port au Prince, the official paper, indignantly denies the allegations of the American Captain, arrived from that place at Wilmington, (North Carolina,) concerning the misconduct of the negroes at the late dreadful conflagration in the Haytien capital. Gratitude is express-ed to Mr. Correy, of Philadelphia, for the contradiction which he gave to those allegations. An official article repels also the charge preferred against the people of Hayti, of having fomented or assisted insurrections in the neighbouring islands or elsewhere.

His clothes were all destroyed, his hand burnt to a crisp, and his head and face disfigured most deplorably. His wife and only child happened to be in Boston at the time.

Killing Negroes .- The Charleston City Gazette of the 26th ult. says-two negroes, a man and a woman, belonging to Skerving Smith, Esq. were shot at Jacksonborough on Saturday evening last, by Mr. Addison, captain of the schr. Alligator. "The fellow died; the wench, it is supposed, will recover of the wound." The editor modestly abstains at present from any comment on this bloody transaction.

The Wilmington Gazette says, that apprehensions are entertained, that General 'adwallader's wound will produce lock jaw, as his arm is much swelled and the ball not extracted.

We are sorry to see, in the account of damages done to vessels at Ocracock Bar by the late gale of wind, that the schooner Wesley, Capt. E. It appears, that the British government had given elders to land troops in Cuba for the extirpation of the pirates, in spite of any resistance from the government of the Island; which, after some opposition was finally acquiesced in by Spain. This it seems gave rise to the late rumours of England being about to seize the Island.

Another American murdered !- The brig Alert of Portsmouth, from New-Orleans, with a deck load of hogs, arrived at Havana on the 20th ult. Off the Moro, she was boarded in the night by two piratical boats with nine men each, and Cuptain Charles Blunt was killed and thrown overboard. The Cook was stabbed and thrown in among the hogs, and nearly eaten up before being discovered. Several of the crew were badly wounded, and the brig robbed.

We learn from the Moutreal papers, that the Governor of Lower Canada has given directions for the release of the steam boat Phænix, which was seized last summer by an officer of the customs at St. Johns. and that she will ply as formerly on Lake Champlain, from Whitehall to St. Johns.

It is stated that no less than one hundred nd two thousand inhabitants of the Island of Java had been swept away, in the course of the last year, by the Cholera Morbus. Mr. Edward Barnard was killed a short ime since, by the accidental discharge of his gun, while out shooting in the neighborhood of his residence on Skidaway Island, near Savannah. He mentioned that he was going to hunt rabbits, and from his not returning when expected, a search was commenced, which resulted in the discovery of his lifeless body with the gun lying beside it.

Arrival of the Congress.—The U. S. Frigate Congress, Capt. Biddle, has arrived in Hampton Roads after a cruise of five months in the W. India Scas, during which she has touched at St. Bartholomew, St. Thomas, Porto Rico, Laguira, Curraços Port-au-Prince, off Havana, and last at St. Jago cers and crew have enjoyed fine health—having lost but two men. The Congress did not fall in with Com. Porter's squadron, nor with any pirati cal vessels, and brings neither political news nor papers. It is expected this ship will soon sail for Buenos Ayres, to carry out Cæsar A. Rodney, Esq minister of the U. States, to Rio Janeiro.

Baptiste Irvine lately escaped from prison at Curracoa, on the 25th ult. by breaking one of the bars, and letting himself down by a cord from the window, two stories high. A reward of 200 pieces of eight was offered by the government, and in leas than two hours the unfortunate man was found se-creted in the house of Mr. Merida, the agent of Colombia—Information was lodged against Mr. I, by a Spaniard, or in less than two hours more he would have been safe : he was led to prison more dead have been safe: he was led to prison more dead than alive.—"I saw him," says a correspondent of the National Advocate, "immediately after he was surprised by the guard; he lifoked wild and pale; my heart really bled for him; he drew a tear of pity from every beholder."

Mr. Irvine was aided in his attempt to escape by the Breatly Fig. Attaches General and Sworn.

The Tread Mills in several of the towns of the Southern and Midland Counties, England, are completely out of work,-in other words where machinery is attached to them for grinding flour, &c. the Overseers are obliged to hire labourers, as these terrors to evil doers' have frightened away the vagrants altogether. In goals where there have been thirty or forty beggars at a time, there are now but two or three,-The consequence has been a great reduction of prison expense, and a total removal of that nuisance-begging in the streets.

In the village of Mexbro', near Doncaster, a mai in the village of Mexbro, near Doneaster, a man much addicted to swearing and drunkennesa, was working last week in a neighbouring quarry, and happening to hear the tolling of the church bell, remarked, with an oath, "It was well it was not for him." To this a fellow-labourer observed, that, had it been so, there would have been no great loss to the world. Indignant at an observation so reproachful he was beginning to retort with another. reproachful he was beginning to retort with another tremendous oath, when a fragment, falling from the quarry, instantly hurried the wretched man be-fore the bar of his Maker!

FROM COM. PORTER'S SQUADRON. Extract of a letter from an officer on board of the Squadron.

A large fleet of merchantmen, of different autions, are lying here, to sail in a few days under our convoy. Heavy piratical schooners have been cruising off this harbor for some time past, murdering and robbing every thing they fell in with. News has this instant reached us of the capture of two American vessels, by a large pratical schooner, about 15 miles to windward of this place. We are now fitting out our Bosts, again, with all possible despatch, and will leave here in about an hour in pursuit of this schooner.

It would be needless for me to attempt to picture to you the feelings which this circumstance has excited among the officers of the fleet; suffice it to say that there was scarcely a dry eye to be seen. A correspondence immediately ensued between the Commodore and the Captain General of Porto Rico, who made mauses and apologies in behalf of the murder

He lived 5 or 6 minutes— and although so dreadfully wounded, preserved his coolness and continued to give his orders for short time; his death caused a great sensation orrow throughout the squadron, as he was below ed as an officer and man by every body. " Spanish Post" of 22d February, published in Venezuela, gives rather an alarming account of the tottering situation of that republic. It is said that General Morales has overrun the provinces of Truxillo and Merida, whose population ex-ceeds 64,000. The inhabitants, it is added, uni-formly have manifested the liveliest enthusiasm, at the sight of Spanish troops and chiefs. They anticipated their demands for refreshments, furnishing them spontaneously with provisions of all sorts, and offering to perform their military duties in order that they might take some repose. They are said to express the utmost abhorrence towards the prepalition to the proposition of th the republican troops. The picture is doubtless somewhat over-coloured; but we like it not

From Spain .- Accounts from Madrid brought by the Caravan, arrived at this port from Cadiz, are of the 25th February, two days later than the advices received by the last arrival from Liverpool. The King and Queen of Spain were both sick.— The Cortes appear to be very unanimous, if we may judge from the re-appointment of President President, and Secretary. The Secretaries of State had given in their resignations, but it was not known whether they would be accepted. The kingdom was every where tranquil; and the remains of the factionists are stated to be suging for pardon, and to be admitted into the Constitutional army. This state of things is attributed to the vio-lent notes of the Holy Alliance, and to the threat of invasion on the part of France; circumstances, it is invasion on the part of France; circumstances, it is said, which have roused the Spanish people, and led them to lorget their own domestic quarrels, that they may direct their entire physical strength against the common enemy. Ballasteros had gone to join the armies, the soldiers composing which are represented as burning with sacred rage against foreign domination.

Sir Robert Wilson is stated in the Madrid papers, to have been appointed to the command of a Portuguese division, to operate against the French, in the event of their entering Spain. ## FOREIGN SUMMARY.

Since our last, (says the Philadelphia corder of this morning,) intelligence been received from England four days er than previous advices, viz. Liverpool tes to the 9th ult. and London to the 8th A late arrival at New-York, from avre, has brought Paris dates to the 11th inclusive.

No formal declaration of hostilities on e part of France had as yet been issued, or does it seem to us at all probable that ere will be any further development of er views and designs, until her armies half occupy Spanish ground; and, indeed, f her nefarious invasion should be so far accessful,) until her flag waves in triumph ver the Spanish capital.

It would seem that the crisis was fast pproaching. The Duc d'Angouleme was spected to leave Paris on the 15th March, or Perpignan, near the north-eastern froner of Spain, and proceed thence to Baonne. A Paris paper of the 4th says, "the luke of Reggio has this day taken leave the King, and sets off to-morrow to take ommand of the first corps of the Army of he Pyrennees at Bayonne."

In the French Chamber of Deputies, roccedings of a very violent nature-unrecedented even in the previous history f that sensitive and excitable body-had ust taken place. M. Manuel, in conseuence of some reflections cast upon the uling party, had been expelled by a vote i the chamber, which was even enforced w personal violence. This had produced n indignant feeling in the populace; and soule time tumultuous groups were lected in the Boulevards, which required e interference of the gen d'armerie.-The minority had protested strongly against is high handed measure-and the excitenent it had produced, together with the aportant circumstance of the refusal of e piquet to execute the order of the chamber to drag Manuel out of it, had used, it was supposed, some rise in the French funds, as suggesting an unequivoal caution to the ultrue in relation to the robable consequences that would follow e departure of the royal troops from aris, and therefore giving rise in the ainds of some to the hope of more modeate and pacific counsels. The hope of cace had been rather confirmed by some cent events at Madrid, which were ought inauspicious to the maintenance the noble stand taken by the Cortes in fence of their liberties-such as some alous squabblings between the different orts of troops, and the resignation of those linisters who had pledged themselves to port the cause of their country against overweening pretensions of the Holy

These hopes will doubtless prove to have en delusive-every thing indicated war. he most extensive preparations were beg made at Bayonne for the immediate immencement of hostilities; and corresanding movements were observable on e other side of the fontier.

The inhabitants of Saragossa, so illusous for their heroic defence against the rmer invasion of the French under Napoorn to bury themselves under e ruins of their city, rather than submit foreign control and dictation.

Portugal, it would seem, had determined make common cause with Spain in the vent of the bostile invasion of the territory of the latter-this is an important cirumstance, and augurs well to the hopes of lose who wish a successful issue to the eroic policy of that country.

The plan of the French invasion is thus letailed .- " An advance will be made to he capital in three directions, leaving St. Sebastian and Pampeluna closely blockaded; the Constitutional government will be overbrown; a Regency will be formed, in case he Liberals shall have carried off the King; the Constitution (which is said to be already drawn up) will be proclaimed, and caused to be accepted in the country occupied by the army; and in this situation the result of the manœuvres and machinations will be waited for, which have been employed in the other provinces to effect the coun-

In England, the popular sympathy in faur of the Spanish cause was on the incase; and had recently been loudly manisted on the occasion of a dinner given to the ambassadors of Spain and Portugal, at which 460 noblemen and gentlemen were resent-and numbers were excluded for ant of room, who had offered as much as 50 for admission. As the guests retired. they were saluted by an immense assemblage of people with continued cheers and ries of "Spain forever"-" The Spanish ause"-" Down with the Holy Alliance" " Manuel forever"-" No Bourbons."

PHILADELPHIA.

Saturday, April 19, 1823.

It will be gratifying to our citizens to learn that the subscriptions towards the completion of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, are rapidly progressing, and hopes are entertained that the whole amount will soon be taken up. Upwards of 80,000 dollars has been subscribed in this city, within a few days past.

A person, wearing a plain garb, has been lately travelling in the state of New-Jersey, for the purpose of obtaining subscribers to a valuable work now publishing in this city. Were we to judge from his conversation we should conclude his main object was to vilify the characters of several ministers of the gospel belonging to the Society of Friends, more particularly that of the venerable ELIAS HICKS, whom he has misrepresented in a shameful manner. It is protumed, the individual alluded to is not a member of the society, or he would be careful not to transgress the rule of discipline, against " tale-bearing and detraction, and spreading of evil reports."-We hope he will be more guarded for the future, otherwise he may hear something further on the subject.

On Tuesday morning last, in the neigh-bourhood of Market and Second street, considerable slarm was occasioned by the rav ings of an infuriated Ox-his owners were driving him along the street, when he suddenly attacked a woman, whom he threw on the meat hooks in the market, and continued butting her, until he was driven off, when the woman was taken from her perilous situation with her hand much lacerated, the thumb being nearly torn off, she was otherwise considerably injured; another he threw over his back, and also overturned a man, but neither of them were much injured. By the adroitness of a coloured man a noose was slipped over his horns, by which he was secured to a pump, and there killed.

THE NEWS. The Cadmus, arrived at New-York from France, brings Paris dates to the 14th of 11th and Madrid to the 5th of that month. The London Sun of the 11th of March observes:-" The despatches yesterday re-ceived by government, added to the favourable advices from the Peninsula, had a most favourable effect on the funds, and it is hop-ed a greater advance will take place. Mr. Jackson is about to return to Madrid. It is believed that a new negotiation is about to be entered into with Spain, which may vet prevent the commencement of hostilities. This opinion is strengthened by the interior situation of France, and the high price of the public funds. The critical situaion of France should command the attention of her government, and if possible ause her to make a retrograde step sooner than employ those forces in a foreign invasion of which she has occasion to maintain her own tranquility. We wait with impa-tience for the king of Spain's speech at the opening of the ordinary Cortes." But the speech of the king has arrived, and though the Spanish government still acts on the defensive, no indication of a continuance of peace is to be perceived in that luminous and noble state paper. On the contrary, it anticipates nothing but hostilities; and a decree of the king proclaims that war has been resolved on, and that Spain was adopting the most efficient means to repel every aggression. A battle has no doubt been fought by this time; and our deliberate conviction is, that Spain will successfully defend her dominions and her liberties against French invasion and French domination.

THE CUBA PIRATES.

Captain Hamilton, arrived at Baltimore in the Spanish schooner Gallega in eleven days from Havana, states that a few day previous to his sailing a British brig of war fell in with a piratical two top-sail schooner off Cape Antonio, of six guns and one hundred and twenty men. Upon coming alongside, the crew of the schooner boarded the brig, armed with knives and other weapons, and took possession of her, after killing eleven men and driving-the whole of the British crew below. A British frigate soon after came up, gave chase to the brig, and recaptured her, the pirates having in the mean time returned to their own vessel, and finally made their escape. An action had also taken place near Cape Antonio, between the boats of a British sloop of war and a piratical schooner of six guns and sixty men, supposed to be the schooner Gota. After a few minutes the pirate blew up, and when the smoke dispersed, about twenty-five men were seen swimming in the water, to whom the boats gave no quarter. The schr. Pilot, Banks, from Norfolk, was captured by a pirate on the night of the 26th of March. 30 miles to the windward of Havana. On

Second Edition.

Amongst the general complaints of hard times it is pleasant to notice, now and then, instances of extraordinary success in mercantile speculation, to balance the rueful story. A few days ago a brig belonging to this port, returned after a voyage of ten months, from the South Sea. She had shipped a cargo of flour at six dellars per barrel, and on her arrival at Valparaiso, sold it for $36; and the purchaser immediately re-sold it at 60 dollars the barrel. Flour at that time was retailing at Lima at the rate of $75 per barrel, but shortly after fell to less than half that price.

Dr. Pencival .- An agent is now in N. York for the purpose of procuring subscribers for the Connecticut Herald, now edited by Dr. Percival, the poet. The paper is large, and handsomely printed; and the price only two dollars a year.

The brig Gen. Scott, at Sag Harbor, left St. Salvador Feb. 21st. On the 16th, the Brazilians made an attack upon that place, but was repulsed. The loss was said to be from 2 to 300 killed on both sides. It was known at St. Salvador, that the Brazilian fleet with 800 troops on board, had sailed from Rio Janeiro and were to land some miles to the windward of that port. No business was doing, and all was in confusion.

On Wednesday last, a tragical event was witnessed in New-York. A Mr. Charles Steele, grocer, living at the corner of Broome and Cannon streets, deliberately took his gun, loaded with slugs, and fired it at his wife who was standing in the street, which took off one of her arms above the elbow. He then took a razor and cut his own throat so effectually that he survived but a few moments. We are not particularly informed of the cause of this act of frenzy, but understand that Mrs. S. had complained to the police of ill treatment from him. The deceased was about 50 years old, in comfortable circumstances as to property, and sustained a fair character in his neighborhood.

The entire edition of Napoleon's memolrs, consisting of five thousand copies, was sold in Paris in two days.

New-York, April 18.

Capt. Huntington, who left Montevideo Feb. 1st passed the Brazilian blockading Squadron off the harbor. Gen. L'Ecore with 5000 troops was still besieging the city, and all communication with the interior was cut off.

Letters from Pernambuco state, that in the latter part of February, the people of that place refused any longer to submit to the Emperor, and demanded a change of government, similar to that of the U. States. at the head of which they wished to place one white man, one mulatto, and one negro, so as to give each class of the population equal rights. On the 28th of Feb. a skirmish took place between them and the troops of the government, in which several on both sides were slain, and the former were defeated. The leader of the insurrec tion was made prisoner, and was sent to Rio Janeiro on the 7th of March for trial. The writer of the above, expresses an appre sion that the government of that portion of Brazil will eventually be in the hands of the mulattoes.

The sloop Maid of the Mill, Meter, from Lan-singburgh, for New-York, ran foul of the steam-boat Fire-Fly, near Poughkeepsie, and sunk in about fifteen feet water.

PROVIDENTIAL OCCURRENCE .- A Mr. Brown, accidently shot himself a short time since, in the town of Montgomery. He went into a canoe, near the bridge which crosses the Wallkill on the Minisink and Montgomery turnpike, and as he was shoving her off with the breech of his gun it went off and shot him through the leg .-The leg was amputated, but he died in a few days after.

Another .- A Mr Knap, living on the 'Big Island,' in the town of Warwick, a few days since, in jumping down from a hay mow, ran the handle of a pitchfork nine or ten inches into his body.— The extent of the injury sustained could not be immediately ascertained, but he remained in great distress when we heard from him.—Goshen Pat.

JUST PUBLISHED. A ND FOR SALE BY JOSEPH BAKESTRAW No 256, North Third Breet, Philadelphia and ROBERT PORTER, Wilmington, Del. The Letters of Paul and Amicus,

In one volume octavo, price $1 50, in boards. (On the 1st of the 5th month (May) next, the on the 1st of the 5th month (May) next, the price will be raised to $2 00.)

This interesting discussion commenced in the early part of 1821, with an Essay over the signature of "Paul," (in the Christian Repository, published at Wilmington, Del.) charging the society of Friends with holding doctrines and practices inimical to the principles of the Goard inimical to the principles of the Gospel, as ined in the scriptures of the Old and New Testament. These charges were ably met, by another writer over the signature of "Amicus." Seldom have the productions of anonymous writers excited a more lively interest than those of "Paul" and "Amicus," especially among Presbyterians and Friends

Fashions.

RMINENT men have written volumes with plates, expensive works, on the preservation of the Teeth, and a Dentist in this city has written on the Teeth, at great length, which is lodged in the Athensenm—this is fashionable—but to write on the Teeth where the Female can conveniently read, has been considered unfashionable.

TO THE LADIES. Were you, ye fair, but cautious whom you trust, Did you but know how seldom fashion's just, So many of your sex would not, in vain, Of runed health and for lost Teeth complain. Ye fair be cautious, keep this truth in view, Public information is a friend to you.

Public information is a friend to you.

WILLIAMS continues to give information on the preservation of the Teeth, in the American Daily Advertiser, throughout the year, and he has invited public contradiction from the Dentist, and from the Physician. (**) Office No. 172 VINE STREET, above Fifth. march 29—tf
